79TH MAINE LEGISLATURE

Ten weeks of the 79th Maine Legislature have passed and the members are anxiously considering adjournment. It seems improbable that work can be finished before the last Saturday in March and to some it appears that the haste to accomplish that would be too much and that April will arrive before the legislators have said good bye to the Capitol and Capital. In fact, one committee at least has new measures before it that cannot be assigned for earlier hearing than on March 20, which will mean the balance of the month before final action. An attempt to refer to the next Legislature all new measures may have been effected before this is read, but it failed of passage when proposed in the House on Friday.

House and Senate of the 79th Legislature re-assembled at 4:30 Tuesday afternoon, after a recess since the previous Friday noon—the long interval having been to permit the members to attend their respective town and city annual meetings. The Senate had but a few minutes of routine business, but the House was in session for an hour and a quarter. Its business was all in the line of routine, but when it was reported that the Senate would not agree to a committee of conference to the re-election "out of order" of a resolve providing State aid for the widow of a soldier killed in action in France, something occurred that took the attention of all.

Rep. Perkins of Boothbay Harbor, who had introduced this resolve, in favor of Mrs. Esther M. Olles of that town, in order that she might receive the State aid for dependents of a soldier, on account of having orally applied for it, when the law required a written application, stated that the State had a duty to perform toward the widow and infant child of one of the dead heroes of Maine and that the State should make good in its obligations to the soldier's family when they went to the defense of their country. He moved that in spite of the Senate's refusal to receive the resolve, that the House still insist and his appeal was not only granted but he was given a round of applause.

Wednesday was Calendar day and a real effort was made toward disposing of some of the accumulated business. In spite of that, many measures were again set aside for consideration and the calendar remained in about the same old congested condition. The important hearing of the day was before joint session of Labor and Judiciary committees on the several proposed changes in the Workmen's Compensation law, held in the House and fought out for hours before the largest crowd of the season.

The House on Thursday, beside meeting at 9 o'clock was a very interesting place and the members had plenty of opportunity for laughter and applause. The matter under discussion was the resolves providing for Constitutional amendments providing for election by the people of attorney general, secretary of State and State treasurer. The majority report on each was "ought not to pass." Rep. Holley of Anson moved the adoption of the minority report "ought to pass" on the attorney general resolve and debate followed.

The fun came when Rep. Buzzell of Belfast, who as a member of the Judiciary committee signed the minority report, was justifying his action and speaking in favor of allowing the people to decide the question for themselves. In doing this he referred to the primary law in the way of suggesting that if it worked well in the election of other officers why not apply it to this. The gentleman from Belfast is a ready and convincing speaker and he was getting along nicely in his argument. His voice was rising in tone and he was leading up to his climax—and it came. Just as he cried the question, "Has any man dared raise his hand against the primary law?" He was interrupted and it was several moments before the House permitted him to continue.

Rep. Dutton of Bingham was the cause of the interruption of the flow of eloquence from the gentleman from Belfast. No sooner had the question left the lips of the latter, than the somewhat massive form of the Upper Kennebec representative sprang from his seat directly across the hall from the speaking member and in a tone that could have been heard at the other end of the 300 foot long building shouted, "Yes, sir."

The House laughed and roared with laughter, then applauded and laughed some more. Even the gentleman from Belfast joined in the merriment and the speaker could not bring himself to

GOULD'S ACADEMY

Ray Parker was in Norway on Saturday.

Mrs. Tuell and Rosamond Grover were in Lewiston, Saturday.

Perol Brink has returned to her studies at the Academy.

Bath Cole taught during the past week at West Bethel, and Vivian Jackson is teaching there this week.

The girls of the Normal Department will serve an English tea in Grange Hall next Friday afternoon from 2:30 to 5:00. They will also give an entertainment that evening, consisting of fancy dances, readings, musicals, etc. As the object is to provide necessities for the Normal room, the patronage of the citizens of Bethel will be greatly appreciated.

Gould's defuncted Andover badly at basketball, running up the score to 56 to 10. Twelve baskets were made by Hanscom. The Andover boys exhibited good team work and took their defeat cheerfully. They were accompanied by Mr. Bernard, principal of the Andover High school, and spent the night at Holden Hall. A specially interesting feature of the evening was the game between the Gould's Freshmen and the Grammar School, resulting in a score of 16 to 8 in favor of the former. The younger boys put up a stiff fight, and showed themselves adepts at guarding.

Announcement was made by Principal Hanscom during the week the parties assigned by the faculty to the members of the Senior class at Commencement. They are as follows: Salutatory, Robert Hanscom; Valedictory, Ruth Cole; Prophecy, Esther Tyler; History, Myrtle Backler; Oration, Harold Bartlett; Presentation of Class Gift, to Academy, George Thomas; Presentation of Gifts to Class, Gwendolyn Godwin and Clara Mason. The first four of these are honor parts, and are allotted in order of class rank. The class orator will be the subject of competition between those who are not in the above list and whose rank is above a certain average.

MRS. AUGUSTA M. PRATT
Mrs. Augusta M. Pratt, widow of Albro M. Pratt, of Auburn, died at C. M. G. hospital, Thursday, at about noon. She had been in poor health for the past year, but her last sickness was only about three weeks. She had been living at 323 Turner street before her removal to the hospital.

Mrs. Pratt was born in Bethel, June 14, 1867, the daughter of Abiel and Ella Lyon. She had lived in Auburn for the past 23 years, where she was married to Mr. Pratt. Her husband passed away about 23 years ago. She was a member of the Liberty Rehearsal church, Auburn, and had been well known in social circles.

Among the surviving relatives are: One son, Leslie A. Pratt, with whom she had made her home, on Turner street; and five brothers; Elmer E. Lyon, on and Sewall A. Lyon, both of Auburn; and Harry A., Charles L., and Edward P. Lyon, all of Bethel.

A private funeral was held at her late home, Auburn, Sunday afternoon.

CORPORATION MEETING

Lack of interest or forgetfulness on the part of many seems to be the reason for the small attendance at the Corporation meetings. Yet matters of grave importance arise each year and should be met with a thorough discussion.

Clerk F. E. Hanscom called the meeting to order and read the warrant, and the following officers were elected: Moderator F. B. Merrill.

STEPHEN RICH WRITES A LETTER FROM ONE OF OUR SAILOR BOYS

Maritzburg, Natal, South Africa, January 14th, 1919.

Friend Merrill—
It's a long way from this sleepy town where I am having a good Christmas holiday, to old Bethel, but I get your paper regularly. My father sends it to me, and I am mighty glad to keep in touch through it with the old village where I spent so many pleasant summers.

You probably know that at the beginning of last year I took the position of headmaster at the Edendale Institute, a training college for natives near this place. It was no bed of roses. We had many difficulties, being understaffed and having on the place as principal a dominating old parson who played the little tin Kaiser to us teachers. So I threw up the position at the end of the school year, last month, and when schools open for this year I shall be teaching at a fine government school in Durban. Durban is the Port of Natal, and Mansfield Road School, where I am going, is considered the best school in the place. I am to have eighth grade there. There are no parsons around to annoy us in government schools.

From your paper I judge that Spanish Influenza has hit Maine just about as hard as it hit Natal. The educational authorities were wise, and closed down for five weeks nearly all the schools of the province. We were very fortunate at Edendale. We had forty light cases, at the start of the epidemic in October, and nothing further. We were the only native training college that did not have to shut down. Here in Maritzburg, all public meetings were outlawed for four weeks. The theaters and churches were closed. The Parliamentary Debating Society, a mock parliament of which I am a member and to whose meetings I come in every Thursday evening, was shut down.

I gather from letters that the impression was spread by the newspapers that South Africa was hard hit by the "flu," as we call Spanish Influenza. That is not wholly true. In Kimberley and De Aar, in the Cape Province, there were very many deaths, but elsewhere it was comparatively light in deaths. The medical authorities did an immense lot of inoculation in this district. You would have laughed to see me and my assistants leading fifty healthy darkie students down to be inoculated, and going in first to have it done so they could see how little it hurt. One of my students was so afraid of it that he hid in a barn for two days.

Maybe some folks are wondering whether I am slacking and camping in the draft. My folks registered me at the first draft registration, in the New York district where we live, and I got a notice seven months ago to take the medical exam. I sent the blank in, Lodge, and Court St. Free Baptist filled out for me for insurance and army service at the same time. I have not heard anything further, except an acknowledgment of the examination form. He said he made her home, on Turner street; and five brothers; Elmer E. Lyon, on and Sewall A. Lyon, both of Auburn; and Harry A., Charles L., and Edward P. Lyon, all of Bethel.

We received news of the armistice on Nov. 11. There was some hullabaloo, both here in Maritzburg and out at the school. I was teaching a class in woodwork when it came, but we "downed tools" on the spot, and ran out and yelled. The Principal seemed much annoyed at the yelling, so I proceeded to outtell the students. We had two big concerts to celebrate. Here in town they had fireworks, parades, confetti showers, and the like. They had an "Exit of the Kaiser" staged also. A man made up as the Kaiser came out of the City Hall, stood on the steps amid jeers and whistles, and then slunk into an auto, which hunched up and drove off. The car got its share of things thrown at it as it rushed up the main street to the railroad station.

You can take it from me that there is not the least shadow of a chance of Germany getting back any African colonies. The people of this country won't stand for it. They conquered Germany Southwest Africa, and have for three and a half years run it as part of this country. They built a railroad 300 through the desert for two hundred 825 miles, to reach the Southwest, and to 250 day you can go in a Pullman car from 150 here right to Swakopmund, Luderitz and other places. Then the South Africans did the bigger part of conquering German East Africa, and they don't intend to let go of it.

I think I shall stay in Africa two

A LETTER FROM ONE OF OUR SAILOR BOYS

March 3, 1919.

Dear Mother—
Now that the censorship has been lifted somewhat, I will make an effort to give you a brief idea of my experiences while on board the U. S. S. North Carolina, during the Great War.

The U. S. S. North Carolina began an entire nine trips during the war. On the first trip we were at sea twenty-three days, without anything out of the ordinary taking place. Our second trip which covered twenty-two days was likewise uneventful, with the exception of a collision which occurred between two of the transports we were conveying, and which necessitated their returning to the States for repairs. Our third, fourth and fifth trips, which kept us at sea approximately twenty-three days each, were also made without any particular occurrences. On our sixth trip, when about half way across, we were again fortunate enough to have two of our transports collide, they therefore turned about and made for the States to be repaired. Our seventh trip taking seventeen days was likewise uneventful. On the eighth voyage, which lasted nineteen days, we finally met with an enemy submarine, when a few days off the coast, which I am sure we sent to her doom with the depth charge we dropped on her. A short time later we again encountered the enemy, this time two submarines, who made an attempt to get us by discharging a number of torpedoes at us, but without success. We immediately opened fire on both of them, they immediately submerged, before we were able to do any damage. On our ninth and last trip, we again met with a U-boat, while we were laying astern towing a disabled destroyer. A running fight took place, lasting about fifteen minutes, during which we fired several shots at the enemy, but the odds were against us because of the sun and smoke, and she probably made her escape. A few days later we again met a U-boat, getting the drop on her, and sinking her with four shots from a six inch gun.

This practically covers all our trips while on convoy duty, after which we made for Hampton Roads, Va., to coal, then we got under way again, and early one evening, as we were heading out to sea, the lights on the beach still being visible, another submarine opened fire on us. We immediately replied very energetically, and to all appearances she met with her well deserved fate. Coaling ship is quite a job, which you will appreciate when I tell you it required thirty-five hundred tons of coal to make one trip. Our first trip took us to the coast of England, all the others being made to France.

At present I am stationed at Pelham Bay Naval Station, New York, where I was sent after leaving ship. I am certainly taking advantage of this opportunity to rest up, and catch up with some of the much needed sleep that it was necessary for me to lose while at sea. However, it has been a wonderful experience for me, and I do not begrudge in the least any sacrifice I made in the name of patriotism.

Well, mother, this about covers all I have to say for the present, and I hope to see you soon, when I can tell you more of the cruises of the North Carolinas.

Your ever loving son,
Percy Robertson.

IN LOVING MEMORY OF ELIA L. BAKER

Who Entered Into Rest Feb. 25, 1919

Years more. The faces home are bloody high these days, and I am quite content here for the present. When I have some more money saved up, I may think of coming home but with shoes at ten dollars a pair, the cheapest writing pad thirty cents, kerosene ninety cents a gallon, and the like, money doesn't go far here and now. They have just raised all the railroad fares by ten per cent. Only tobacco is cheap.

As ever,
Stephen G. Rich.

CHARLES A. F. ABBOTT

Mr. Charles Abbott, one of Bethel's most prosperous farmers and sturdy citizens, died at his home on Swan's Hill, Wednesday night after a short illness.

Mr. Abbott was the son of Stephen and Nancy Goddard Abbott, and was born in Bethel, May 14, 1848. He married Ella E. Davis of Minot on Sept. 25, 1872, and nine children blessed this union, all of whom are living.

He took an active interest in all things pertaining to the welfare of the town, and was much respected by his fellow townsmen. He was a big hearted man and his love for his family was great. He insisted that his children should be well educated and gladly gave up many things so that they might have the advantage of an adequate education. He frequently remarked that his jewels were his children and that he was mighty proud of all of them.

He was a member of the Methodist church and of the Grange.

Besides his wife, he is survived by eight daughters and one son: Mrs. Florance Stone of Norway; Mrs. Nellie Marston of Lewiston; Miss Sadie Abbott, a teacher, Boston, Mass.; Mrs. Frank Keene, East Hibernia, Maine; Miss Edith Abbott, a Red Cross nurse in Georgia; Mrs. James Mann, of Rumford; Miss Mabel Abbott, of Rumford; and Miss Francis Abbott, a teacher of physical culture in Danielson, Conn.; and Stephen Abbott who has lived at home. ## NORWAY

The date of the Chapman concert has been changed from Monday evening, Mar. 31, to Saturday, March 29.

It was voted at the Universalist Sunday school not to change the hour of meeting for the present, and 1:15 P. M. will continue to be the time.

The Ladies of the Universalist Circle are to serve a dinner at the Church Hall, Thursday from 11:45 to 1:15.

At the annual parish meeting of the First Congregational church at Norway Center, officers for the year were elected as follows: Moderator, Alvin Brown; clerk, Mrs. Alice A. Watson; treasurer, Alvin Brown; collector, Ralph Watson; chorister, Miss Eleanor Brown; parish committee, Mrs. Edith Knightley, Mrs. Alice Watson, Mrs. Edith Knightley.

The Ladies' Circle also held its annual meeting and elected as president, Mrs. Edith Knightley; vice president, Mrs. Alice Watson; secretary and treasurer, Mrs. Edith Brown. The circle will be entertained at the church vestry, Wednesday by Mrs. Oliver Merrill, Mrs. Guy Curtis and Mrs. Woodbury Russell.

Extensive repairs are to be made at St. Catherine's church, which are in charge of Z. L. Metcalf. The interior will be replastered and painted. It is also planned to paint the exterior and shingle the roof.

One of the pleasant affairs of the week was a gathering at Noble's Corner, Wednesday, when the ladies of the neighborhood gave a dinner at the home of Mrs. Woodbury Russell in honor of Mrs. Annie Saunders, 81 years of age, who has been confined to the house the most of the winter. In the neighborhood, within a quarter mile radius, are living seven aged ladies, whose combined ages amount to 541 years, six of them being present at the dinner: Mrs. Sarah Heath, who heads the list at 82 years; Mrs. Anna Saunders, 81 years; Mrs. Martha Hinckley, Mrs. Daisy Herick, Mrs. Hannah Merrill and Mrs. Lizzie Richardson, the youngest of the seven, 69 years of age. Miss Hannah Hill, who is blind, was not able to attend and was remembered with a box of food, fruit and confectionery.

The members of the Sophomore class went on a class ride to the club hall at Norway Lake, Thursday evening. Each one of the class was entitled to invite a guest, and nearly fifty young people spent a pleasant evening.

The first of a series of ten cent socials for the benefit of the Universalist Circle was held Thursday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Vicina W. Hill, Octagon street, who opened their pleasant home from parrot to kitchen. Progressive whist and auction were enjoyed with no special attention paid to score, as sociability was a prominent feature of the gathering. Each lady of the circle contributed towards the refreshments, and the dining table was filled with an attractive display of edibles. Several of the were remembered. About 40 were present and all voted it an unusually happy affair.

The many friends of Laurence H. Driscoll of the 40th Aero Squadron, will be glad to know that word was received from him Tuesday, that he had arrived in New York from France, safe and in the best of health.

to call the House to order. It was one of those hit-the-nail incidents that occur but once or twice in a session and repaid everyone for being obliged to arise an hour earlier to attend the 9 o'clock session.

The "ought not to pass" reports on each of the resolves were adopted.

The Senate receded from its opposition to a resolve giving State aid to the widow of a Maine soldier who was killed in action in France. It also heard a resolve providing for a bronze memorial for our soldiers and sailors to be erected on the State grounds, introduced by Sen. Gannett of Kennebec, which will be read in the House before action is taken.

House and Senate on Friday agreed to meet at 4:30 p. m. Monday in order to "speed up." Rep. Allen of Portland endeavored to help that idea along by offering an order to the effect that all legislation offered after 4 P. M. of March 11 be referred to the next Legislature, but the House wasn't quite ready for that action and it was tabled by Barnes of Houlton.

The Senate killed the measure proposing to stop the use of automobiles in going hunting for wild birds and animals; also joined the House in killing the proposed Constitutional amendments for the election direct by the people of the attorney general, secretary of State and State treasurer.

The Judiciary committee, the only committee that has bothered to remain for Friday hearings, during the session, was again in session on March 7 and furnished material for thought in each of its hearings. Rep. Brown of Lewiston sought favorable action on his bill to prevent discrimination against persons seeking employment, an act aimed at the so-called "Black List" kept by the Auburn shoe manufacturers and alleged discrimination on their part against any person whose name carried an unfavorable report on such cards. The manufacturers appeared in force, upholding their right to keep and use such a system, claiming it recorded a man's good points as well as his defects and protected them against hiring dishonest, inefficient and other undesirable persons.

Insurance men from all over Maine appeared in opposition to the proposed creation of a State Insurance Fund, through which the State would eventually carry its own insurance on all State property, in advocacy of which Councilor Norman H. Fay of Dexter also appeared. Some 12 or 15 insurance men, representing scores of old-line companies, protested against the State taking away any of their business in a State in which for the last 10 years they have lost money, on account of the heavy fire losses.

Rep. Pile of Eastport appeared for his act to establish a State Penal Institutions Commission. He deplored the conditions at the State prison, saying they are a disgrace to the State and a decided injury even to the criminals confined therein. He asked for some action on the part of the Legislature whereby the prisoners' conditions can be improved and by which, during the period it is necessary to confine a man, he may be educated and trained to be a better citizen, instead of making him worse.

COMMITTEE HEARINGS

Committee hearings on Tuesday had the following important matters before them:

Inland Fisheries and Game. No one appeared for the act making more stringent the law against depositing sawdust or mill waste so the waters. Strong opposition came from the fishing, who argued it would be a strong force for the encouragement instead of the discouragement of the small sawmill owner, who they claimed would be crippled if not driven out of business if this act became a law. J. F. Sprague of Dover, for A. P. Clark of Foxcroft; John V. Whitten of Steuben, for his own mill; E. M. Frye of Harrington, for B. G. Smith on the same stream; Elko for all of Washington county; W. S. Linnell and Supt. Shesheey of Portland for the Dupont Co., which depends on many small saw mills for materials.

Arthur Briggs opposed opening Lake Maranacook to perch fishing from going out of ice to Sept. 30, because it would not only lose the fish but their spawn. No one appeared for the bill. Sen. Ames of Washington and Rep. Clifford of Wytopitlock opposed removing the bounty on bears killed in the Forestry District, stating they were numerous and a menace to the cattle, sheep and crops.

Legal Affairs—Rep. Lanpher of Seboc explained the act to amend the law relating to enrollment of voters at political caucuses, as supplementary to the already reported bill providing for the enrollment of voters at primary elections, making the law apply to all cities and towns. Rep. Thornton favored a law providing that no justice shall sit in law court upon the hearing of any cause tried before him at a nisi prius term.

State Lands and Forest Preservation—Forest Commissioner F. H. Colby favored the bill to make the commissioner's term of office four years instead of at the Governor and Council's pleasure, in the line of efficiency. Thomas Leigh of Augusta also favored the bill.

Ways and Bridges—This committee had 26 matters assigned and could reach but few. Sen. Deering of York appeared for a resolve for $7,500 for each of 1919 and 1920 for repair of a highway in Saco. E. A. Hobson of Hollis, county commissioner, Judge Emmons, Mayor Minot of Saco, Rep. Hanson, Judge B. F. Cleaves also favored it. Resolves were also considered for repair of Pond road in Readfield; repair in Millbridge and Harrington; repair of toll bridge across Sasumau river in Arrowsic; and for repair of North Turner bridge.

Committee on Temperance—This was the largest hearing of the day. The act to provide that all beverages containing more than 1 per cent of alcohol shall be intoxicating liquors was advocated by Sheriff King Graham of Cumberland county, E. H. Emery of Bangor, Rev. C. E. Owen of Waterville, Mrs. Aileen G. Quimby of Greene. No opposition appeared. The bill to stop the sale of cider and place it in the class of intoxicating liquors was also favored by Sheriff Graham, E. H. Emery, Rev. C. E. Owen and Rep. Chubbey of Porter.

The big committee hearing of Wednesday was before a joint meeting of the Labor and Judiciary Committees, held in the hall of the House and the hall packed, several hundred people being present, the subject being the several bills proposing amendments to the Workmen's Compensation law. The proponents were organized labor, which asked a change in the amount of compensation, the rate of compensation and the waiting time injured employees are delayed in receiving compensation, and the physicians, who ask that injured employees be allowed to select their own physician. Proponents and opponents were each given 15 minutes.

George Chapman of Fairfield conducted the hearing for the proponents. He reviewed the history of the law, Rep. Murray of Portland, who drew one of the bills, said 50 per cent of the accidents were caused by inherent risk of the work, 45 per cent disabled between negligence of employer and employee and only 5 per cent due to direct negligence of employee. He urged increase of compensation, reduction of wait before compensation and choice of physician as by the injured employee.

State Insurance. E. W. Smith, ex-officio, a member of the Industrial Accident Commission, said he appeared at the request of the Governor, who favored House Bill No. 67, as complying with his ideas as outlined in his inaugural address. Then followed a sharp questioning by Rep. Maher of the Judiciary committee as to Mr. Smith's former occupation, his representation of the Governor and his belief in State insurance.

Dr. H. M. Gossels of Waterville favored choice of physician by the injured person; R. G. Brewster of Portland appeared for the same provision.

E. N. Hamstead of Wilton appeared for the textile manufacturers to oppose certain features of the bill, asking that the waiting period remain at 14 days, and opposing increase from $30 to $75 for medical attendance. His calculations were willing to have compensation increased from $10 to $12, with a maximum of $4 to $5. W. J. McCarthy of Rumford said the International Paper Co. favored these propositions, as did Philip Doss of the Bank Wap Co. W. D. Pransell of Lewiston said 19 States had the 14-day waiting period and 24 had compensation of 50 per cent of the wages. He thought the idea of State insurance worth considering. Charles N. Nason of Auburn said the shoe manufacturers had the same feeling in regard to the measure.

Military Affairs heard the proposition of the resolve for building an armory to call the House to order.

discouragement of the small sawmill owner, who they claimed would be crippled if not driven out of business if this act became a law. J. F. Sprague of Dover, for A. P. Clark of Foxcroft; John V. Whitten of Steuben, for his own mill; E. M. Frye of Harrington, for B. G. Smith on the same stream; Elko for all of Washington county; W. S. Linnell and Supt. Shesheey of Portland for the Dupont Co., which depends on many small saw mills for materials.

Arthur Briggs opposed opening Lake Maranacook to perch fishing from going out of ice to Sept. 30, because it would not only lose the fish but their spawn. No one appeared for the bill. Sen. Ames of Washington and Rep. Clifford of Wytopitlock opposed removing the bounty on bears killed in the Forestry District, stating they were numerous and a menace to the cattle, sheep and crops.

Legal Affairs—Rep. Lanpher of Seboc explained the act to amend the law relating to enrollment of voters at political caucuses, as supplementary to the already reported bill providing for the enrollment of voters at primary elections, making the law apply to all cities and towns. Rep. Thornton favored a law providing that no justice shall sit in law court upon the hearing of any cause tried before him at a nisi prius term.

State Lands and Forest Preservation—Forest Commissioner F. H. Colby favored the bill to make the commissioner's term of office four years instead of at the Governor and Council's pleasure, in the line of efficiency. Thomas Leigh of Augusta also favored the bill.

Ways and Bridges—This committee had 26 matters assigned and could reach but few. Sen. Deering of York appeared for a resolve for $7,500 for each of 1919 and 1920 for repair of a highway in Saco. E. A. Hobson of Hollis, county commissioner, Judge Emmons, Mayor Minot of Saco, Rep. Hanson, Judge B. F. Cleaves also favored it. Resolves were also considered for repair of Pond road in Readfield; repair in Millbridge and Harrington; repair of toll bridge across Sasumau river in Arrowsic; and for repair of North Turner bridge.

Committee on Agriculture heard many people on the act to prevent adulteration or misbranding of fertilizers. Farms from Arrowsic told of inferior qualities received and the deterioration of crops as a consequence. Rep. Matthews of Oakfield conducted the hearing for the advocates and O. B. Rideout of Houlton, A. M. G. Soule of the Agricultural Department, and Dr. C. D. Woods of Orono favored the bill. E. A. Rogers of Topsham did not oppose and favored giving the Commissioner of Agriculture authority to have analyses of fertilizers made wherever he saw fit, instead of at Orono. M. S. Hazen of New York, representing the fertilizer manufacturers, said his people were in favor of this or any bill that would protect the farmers because they depended on the farmers for their business, although he thought being obliged to furnish a separate bag for Maine a nuisance.

J. E. McIntire of East Waterford opposed the bill amending the pure milk law by insisting that "milk" fat only should be added to milk. He said the bill was full of errors, which were later shown to be clerical, and the committee assured him they would "take care of the bill."

Commissioner Roberts favored granting him authority to have milk analyzed here or elsewhere, instead of at Orono. Dr. Woods opposed it. Mr. Roberts asked authority for co-operative work with the U. S. Government in collecting and publishing crop statistics and estimates.

A. M. G. Soule asked that agricultural seed packages be marked with statement of how much weed seed be sold as the named brand the package contains as well as carrying a germination test certificate. Rep. Gurney said seed men wished to be heard and asked a week's continuance, which was granted.

Thursday's big hearing was on the Osteopathy bill before the Judiciary committee, the crowd being so large that the hearing was adjourned to the hall of the House, which was filled. John E. Nelson of Augusta conducted the case for the proponents, who ask that the practice of Osteopathy be regulated and a Board of Registration and Examination in Osteopathy be created. The country now has from 6,000 to 8,000 practitioners, with 60 in Maine. He favored an independent board, saying most states with boards preferred that kind. Dr. E. Kendrick Smith of the Massachusetts College of Osteopathy, Charles R. Nichols of Augusta and Rev. H. C. Westworth of Yarmouth all favored the bill. Dana H. Williams of Lewiston, representing the Maine Chiropractors Association, said the features of the bill subjected to by his association had been removed and it now had no objection to it.

Dr. D. A. Robinson of Bangor and Dr. Hunter of Bangor spoke in opposition, in behalf of the Maine Medical Society and the Medical Board of Registration. They claimed that some parts of the divisions of medicine the Osteopaths wished to practice must have surgery, yet they didn't ask to be allowed to practice surgery. It was also claimed that a partial examination would not be fair to the men who had devoted years to the general practice; that all who practice the healing art should enter the ranks through the same doors.

COMMITTEE REPORTS

The House Committee on Ways and Bridges on Tuesday reported "ought to pass in new draft" on the act relating to the erection of a free highway bridge over the Piscataqua river between Kittery, Me., and Portsmouth, N. H.

The new draft provides that in case of the adoption of the proposed amendment authorizing an increase in the amount of bonds to be issued for the purpose of building and maintaining State highways, the sum of $500,000 is appropriated for the purpose of paying for a portion of the expense and cost of an inter-State free highway bridge between Kittery and Portsmouth. The appropriation is made with the understanding and condition that the State of New Hampshire will make an appropriation of a similar amount. The Governor and Council shall have power to agree on behalf of this State of where the proposed bridge shall be located. This free highway bridge when constructed shall be known as a Memorial bridge to the soldiers and sailors of the States of Maine and New Hampshire who gave their lives in the World War. On the Maine side of the bridge shall be constructed and designed something which shall be a special memorial to the soldiers and sailors of the entire State. Such Maine memorial shall meet the approval in design and construction of a special committee of five appointed for that purpose by the Governor and Council.

The House Committee on Inland Fisheries and Game reported "ought to pass" an act to provide for the regulation of resident hunters.

The House Committee on Public Utilities reported "ought not to pass" an act to amend the act authorizing Boothbay Harbor to convey water to the Squirrel Island Village Corporation at Spruce Point in Boothbay Harbor.

House Committee on Judiciary reported "ought to pass in new draft" on resolve authorizing Michael Barnes of Augusta to bring suit against the State of Maine for damages alleged by him to have been sustained by the seizure of liquors in the original packages in 1887. ## THE HOME CIRCLE.

Pleasant Reveries—A Column Dedicated to Tired Mothers as they join the Home Circle at Evening Tide.

HOME

Home's not merely four square walls, though with pictures hung and gilded; Home is where affection calls—filled with shrines the heart has built—ed!

Home! Go watch the faithful dove sailing 'neath the Heaven above us; Home is where there's one to love, Home is where there's one to love us.

Home's not merely roof and room, It needs something to endear it; Home is where the heart can bloom, Where there's some kind lip to cheer it!

What is home with none to meet, None to welcome, none to greet us? Home is sweet, and only sweet Where there's one who loves to meet us. Newry, Maine.

FOR THE BOY'S ROOM

We have a clothes' chest for the boy's room made of a long box. The lid is made fast with hinges, and the box covered with cretonne and lined with cambric. A line of pockets is tacked on the inside of the lid, and small easels are attached to the bottom to enable it to move easily. The chest makes the boy a pleasant and useful couch when closed. The construction of the chest and couch need no detailed description. A dresser was made of a large box, two shelves being put in place, a cretonne curtain placed round the box, and a scarf of the same goods on top. A mirror was hung over the box, and the top of the dresser holds all necessary toilet articles. All these furnishings are found among the inexpensive things. Providing pictures is an easy matter requiring little money, but some time and thought. As a rule the boy appreciates pictures of animals, dogs, horses and those of heroism. Many fine pictures we find in magazines, and the boy can frame them if he has tools or we can frame them in paste partout. Books, boy's papers, farm journals and pictures are among the necessary things for the boy's room. —A. M.

A DAY OF RECKONING

We may think we are deceiving others, as we go through life's duties, when we meet those duties in a slipshod, half-hearted way, but we are only deceiving and cheating ourselves. When a day of reckoning comes, as it always does, we shall find to our own dismay that we are on the wrong side and are found wanting. Some pupils in school will copy the work of others in order to get credits that will keep them in the class, but as soon as they are put to a test, they have nothing to fall back on, and so they fail. It has been a day of reckoning. This experience is good for them, if they will only profit by the failure, and resolve that thereafter they will give to every undertaking in life, nothing short of their very best efforts. Nothing short of the best can stand the crucial test, the day of reckoning.

The world is so full of shoddy, and make-believe that we often seem surprised to find people who are genuine in all the walks of life, not ostentatious, but the sweet influence of their lives permeating their homes and the community; and are a blessing to all with whom they come in contact. Every day is a day of reckoning to those who live an upright life every day, and who give their best in every undertaking.

HOW MRS. BOYD AVOIDED AN OPERATION

Canton, Ohio.—"I suffered from a female trouble which caused me much suffering, and two doctors decided that I would have to go through an operation before I could get well. My mother, who had been helped by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, advised me to try it before submitting to an operation. I relieved me from my troubles as I can do my house work without any difficulty. I advise any woman who is afflicted with female troubles to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial and it will do as much for them. —Mrs. MARY BOYD, 1421 E. St., N. E., Canton, Ohio.

Sometimes there are serious conditions where a hospital operation is the only alternative, but on the other hand so many women have been cured by this famous root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, after doctors have said that an operation was necessary—every woman who wants to avoid an operation should give it a fair trial before submitting to such a trying ordeal.

If complications exist, write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass., for advice. The result of many years' experience is at your service.

THOUSANDS OF CHILDREN HAVE WORMS

THEIR PARENTS DO NOT KNOW IT

Symptoms of worms in children are: Deranged stomach, swollen upper lip, sour stomach, offensive breath, hard and full belly, with occasional gripings and pains about the navel, pale face of lead on tint, eyes heavy and dull, twitching eyelids, itching of the nose, itching of the rectum, short dry cough, grinding of the teeth, little red points sticking out on tongue, starting during sleep, slow fever. Growers people are subject to worms also.

The one best remedy is Dr. True's Elixir, the Family Laxative and Worm Expeller. Also a pleasant, safe, safe laxative for children and grown folks. Mrs. Angeline Lannar, 23 State Street, Sanford, Maine, wrote to Dr. True: "My daughter, Gertrude, had dizziness and could not even go out for she always complained of being sick. She used your worm expeller (Dr. True's Elixir). She never had any fits since. I feel very grateful to you." Dr. True's Elixir can be used freely for both children and grown folks. Start taking it today.—Adv.

ing; and they are never defeated in the reckoning. Some pupils desirous of entering High school have been in different in their preparatory efforts, and when they are tested they find that no juggling in mathematics will answer the requirements, as "figures will not lie," and this, too, is illustrative of life. A day of reckoning is the time spent in the crucible, and shows our work to be either chaff, or hay, or stubble, or iron, or silver, or gold. Let us live pure lives of earnest effort, and we shall always be found ready for the day of reckoning.—Cartha Allen Bryson.

THE SERVANT PROBLEM

If the people who are interested in the welfare of the working girl, and who cannot understand why the girl who must work dislikes housework, would take her place in some of the homes and try doing the things for one day that she must do day after day, they would understand why a girl who has to work would rather do most any kind of work than housework. The writer took a place recently in a devout home. To have done the work in this home as the mistress said it must be done, would have taken twelve to fourteen hours each day. I found to serve a meal to this small family the mistress said it must be served, was as much work as it would have been to have served a meal to fourteen people in the ordinary way. It seemed to me this family was trying to live in a very economical way and to keep up appearances. The little thing that had to be served in a very elaborate style, with little thought as to how many steps the tired maid had to take to serve in that way. Then after I had served the meal to the family I could eat what was left on the kitchen table. If there was anything attractive or homelike in the maid's room in this house, I didn't see it. I put the girl who goes into this home with no other place to go, and is compelled to stay, that is the only way they can keep a servant in this home. This was in a mistress's home, and I was to receive three dollars and fifty cents per week. I hope people will awaken to the fact that girls who have to work are human. A Reader.

HOW TO COOK A BEEF SHANK

Cut the shank into small pieces and place them in just enough water to cover them. Cook slowly as rapid boiling hardens the fibrin and destroys the gelatinous properties of the sinews. The cooking should cease when all the sinews have become gelatinous and tender, for if continued longer they become disintegrated. Thicken with browned flour, then put some stale bread crumbs into the stew, and the result is a dish of delicious flavor and ample quantity for several persons.

A beef shank costs on the average about six cents as much as an equal weight of sirloin or tenderloin steak, and its nutritive value is very much higher. But the meat of the shank is sinews and tough and requires special cooking. When properly cooked it is far more tender than any steak, and it makes a deliciously palatable although of different flavor.

A good steak is the exception and not the rule, as we can not always get that the proper part of a proper animal, which has been killed for a proper time. A good steak properly broiled is delicious. The broiler should be placed over the coals or flame and the steak turned frequently. The intense heat cooks the surface of the steak and drives the juices back into it instead of allowing them to escape and be wasted. The surface of the meat becomes browned, producing a delightful color and delicious flavor.

Steak should never be salted until after it is cooked, since the salt reason of its ability for water, draws the juices from the meat in effect—salting before a steak hot, cooking it in the flavor and cannot be so should be salted.

A GOOD FRIEND

A good friend stands by you when in need. Bethel people tell how Doan's Kidney Pills have stood the test. W. Scott Robertson of Mason St., Bethel, endorsed Doan's ten years ago and again confirms the story. Could you ask for more convincing testimony? "Some time ago I had an attack of backache which lasted for a long time," says Mr. Robertson. "I began to look for some medicine that would help me, and as I knew a neighbor had been cured by Doan's Kidney Pills of a similar trouble, I sent to Bossman's Drug Store for some. I used only one box when the pain disappeared and my kidneys gave me no more trouble." (Statement given June 23, 1908.)

On June 12, 1916, Mr. Robertson said: "I think just as highly of Doan's Kidney Pills today as when I last recommended them. I always keep them in the house and use them when needed. I never fail to get prompt results." Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Robertson had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfgs., Buffalo, N. Y.—Adv.

THE NATIONAL CAPITAL

Events of Interest From Washington

By J. E. Jones

RAD REDD

It is to be hoped—yes, expected, that the American public will show a better spirit than their servants at Washington. In the closing hours of Congress the different branches of the Government failed to coordinate, simply because men in high office became stubborn and unreasonable; they snapped their jaws shut, and in consequence the Governmental affairs were thrown into a state of confusion. Not only were most of the principal measures necessary to carrying on the affairs of the Government allowed to die in the clutch of a dilatory filibuster, but the whole plan of "reconstruction" that has been heralded to the country, was defeated. Secretary Lane's great program to give homes and employment to the returning soldiers; new loan for good roads, the water power bill, the appropriations necessary to carry on the railroads under Government control, and a whole list of big legislation, were sacrificed, and the "dilatate Senate" listened for hours to speeches that were delivered for the avowed purpose of killing time.

This correspondence is not privileged to fix the blame for the condition of affairs that is playing havoc with the affairs of the Government. Some of the statesmen and editorial writers assert that Europe will understand the situation, and that therefore, no real harm can come to the League of Nations. This viewpoint is certainly extremely complimentary to the Europeans, and it is too bad that as much cannot be said for Americans; who, while convinced that there is something radically, seriously wrong with our internal conditions, are nevertheless unable to analyze the difficulty. The one thing of which they are certain is that there is "bad blood" in Washington.

THE SANITY OF GOVERNORS AND MAYORS

The Governors and Mayors of the United States held a conference in Washington during the closing days of Congress. Mayor Ralph of San Francisco, in addressing that body, said: "The country and the cities are all right; whatever trouble exists centers right here. Why did a filibuster defeat the great appropriation measure? Why couldn't Congress be reconvened to take up the problems faced by all the States? Why are Government officials resigning?"

Mr. Ralph may not have realized it, but he certainly "spoke a mouthful." His statement that "the country and the cities are all right," is comforting. Governor Edge of New Jersey, told the gathering that the failure of the Government to adopt a definite and permanent policy toward industry, was the principal cause of uncertainty.

Governor Cox of Ohio, took the position that the Government should determine the basis of reasonable prices, reduce freight charges on road materials, and start at once a railroad improvement program.

It was noticeable throughout the conference that the Governors and Mayors were disagreed in a vigorous manner, but at every step of the proceedings their ideas were constructive. In contrast to the cantankerous methods adopted in Government circles, these men stood firmly for America and its well-being. As matters stand it will be well for the public not to forget that it was Thomas Jefferson who said in his first inaugural address that "error of opinion may be tolerated where reason is left free to combat it."

The Governors and the Mayors brought their "reason" along with them at a time when that commodity was at its lowest ebb in Washington.

POLITICS AND ECONOMICS

Now is a good time to read the story of Government by politics—and you can take it from any newspaper of the country, printed anywhere in the country. Then take home this sentence contained in a recent report to the Merchants Association of New York on "Government Ownership and Operation of Public Utilities." Here it is: "The cause of inefficient management and excessive cost when governments undertake economic activities is simple. All the activities of any government are necessarily carried on by political machinery and that machinery is wholly unsuited to the economic field."

"The fields of politics and economics are dissimilar and separate. The field of politics (meaning thereby the field of government) is mainly the regulation of conduct and the protection of rights. The field of economics is the production and utilization of material things. The principles, the methods, and the machinery of political administration are wholly different from those of economic activities and not adapted or adaptable to the latter."

WHY DON'T THEY GET UP IN THE MORNING?

Congress was on the way to repeat the "daylight saving law," when the session blew up in a puff of words. It worked well enough last year, except in the farming communities, where it

In many cases these symptoms result from wrong eating and neglect of the daily action of the bowels. You can really prove this by trying the genuine "L. F. Atwood's Medicine." Take a teaspoonful in a glass of water an hour before breakfast, and a smaller amount after meals. If you are distressed, eat slowly of plain food, drink sparingly of mild coffee and tea, more water at bedtime with a little L. F. Atwood's Medicine. You will feel better in a day or two and in a few weeks wonderfully improved. Buy today of your dealer, the true "L. F." made by the L. F. Medicine Co., Portland, Me.

POEMS WORTH READING

TIKLE SPRING
I guess I'll get my overcoat;
It's hanging on the line;
The silver sleep around my legs
And up and down my spine,
I thought last week that spring had come,
So put my coat away,
Felt sure I'd need it not again
Till break November day,
But now I see 'twas all a bluff—
For spring was only teasing,
So I'll dig up my winter stuff
To keep my feet from freezing.
K. Nerry.

BONNY OF THE ROBIN
There came to my window,
One morning in Spring,
A sweet little robin,
She came there to sing;
The time that she sang
It was prettier far
Than ever I heard
On the flute or guitar.
Her wings she was spreading
To see far away,
Then resting a moment
Seemed sweetly to say:
"O happy, how happy
This world seem to be!
Awake, little girl,
And be happy with me."

O WINTER COLD AND LONG
By Leander Lephora
O winter, cold and long,
I've heard thy sullen song
For many days,
My woodpile, large and high,
That almost touched the sky—
Davy of passers-by—
Has turned to blue.
Thy grievous grip was hard,
And 'e'en this cheerful bard
Was sad at times.
Thy wind and snow and sleet
In bold battalions, fleet,
Against my roof-tree bent
Their primal chimes.

AT MOTHER'S GRAVE
A little blue-eyed child sat weeping
O'er a lonely, new-made grave,
As the shades of eve were gathering
Softly o'er the land and wave.
And I stopped awhile and listened
To that dear weeping one there,
And from lips that trembled sadly
Came a child's sweet evening prayer.

WAKE ROBIN
Ina Lord, Macdavit
Wake Robin! Wake Robin!
The springtime is here;
Wake, Robin, from slumber
And conquer thy fear!
Leave sleep to the lily
And clothe to the rose,
Who wait for the summer
To break their repose!

SMOKING TOBACCO
FACTS FROM THE
ENCYCLOPEDIA
The Use of Flavorings Deter-
mines Difference in Brands
The Encyclopedia Britannica says
about the manufacture of smoking tobacco: "...on the Continent and in
America, certain 'sauces' are employed
the use of the 'sauces' is to improve the flavor and burning qualities of the leaves." Which indicates that a smoker's enjoyment depends as much upon the
flavoring used as upon the tobacco.
Your nose is a sure guide in the matter of flavorings. Try this simple test
with several tobacco brands: pour some
tobacco into your palm, rub briskly
and smell. You will notice a distinct difference in the fragrance of every brand. The tobacco that smells best to
you will smoke best in your pipe, you
can rest assured.
Carefully aged, old Burley tobacco,
piped a dash of pure chocolate, gives
TUXEDO Tobacco a pure fragrance
your nose can quickly distinguish from any other tobacco. Try it and see.

SMOKING TOBACCO
FACTS FROM THE
ENCYCLOPEDIA
The Use of Flavorings Deter-
mines Difference in Brands
The Encyclopedia Britannica says
about the manufacture of smoking tobacco: "...on the Continent and in
America, certain 'sauces' are employed
the use of the 'sauces' is to improve
the flavor and burning qualities of the leaves." Which indicates that a smoker's
enjoyment depends as much upon the
flavoring used as upon the tobacco.
Your nose is a sure guide in the matter of flavorings. Try this simple test
with several tobacco brands: pour some
tobacco into your palm, rub briskly
and smell. You will notice a distinct difference in the fragrance of every brand. The tobacco that smells best to
you will smoke best in your pipe, you
can rest assured.
Carefully aged, old Burley tobacco,
piped a dash of pure chocolate, gives
TUXEDO Tobacco a pure fragrance
your nose can quickly distinguish from any other tobacco. Try it and see.

RED CROSS GIFTS $400,000,000

War Council on Retirement Announces Cash and Supplies Contributed.

WORKERS WILL "CARRY ON."

Five Big Societies in World Wide Plan. H. P. Davidson Heads International American Red Cross Commission. Dr. Livingston Farrand Permanent Leader of Peace Organization.

Washington, (Special).—Henry P. Davidson as chairman issues the following statement on behalf of the War Council of the American Red Cross: "To the American People: The War Council of the American Red Cross, appointed by President Wilson on May 10, 1917, to carry on the work of the American Red Cross during the war, at their request and by vote of the Central Committee, ceased at midnight February 28.

"Immediately the armistice was signed the War Council instituted studies to determine when the strictly war work of the organization would have been sufficiently matured to enable the direction of affairs to be resumed by the permanent staff. Henry P. Davidson, being in Paris when the armistice was signed, summoned a conference there of the heads of all the Red Cross Commissions in Europe to canvass the situation. After considering all the factors it was concluded to make the transition on March 1. The very fortunate choice of Dr. Livingston Farrand as the new chairman of the American Red Cross, and thereby the permanent chief executive of the Red Cross, makes possible the consummation of this plan under the most favorable conditions.

Accounts Audited by War Department. "Detailed reports to Congress and a complete audit of its accounts by the War Department will constitute the final record of Red Cross activity during the war. Although it has been the rule to make public all expenditures when authorized and to give detailed information relative to all work undertaken, the War Council in turning over its accounts to Dr. Farrand and his associates desire to give a brief resume of Red Cross war time activities to the American people, to whom the Red Cross belongs, and whose generous contributions have made possible all that has been accomplished.

"During the past nearly twenty-one months the American people have given in cash and supplies to the American Red Cross more than $100,000,000. No value can be placed upon the contributions of service which have been given without stint and with untiring effort by millions of our people.

"The effort of the American Red Cross in this war has constituted by far the largest voluntary gift of money, of hand and heart, ever contributed purely for the relief of human suffering. Through the Red Cross the heart and spirit of the whole American people have been united to take care of our own, to relieve the misery incident to the war, and also to reveal to the world the supreme ideals of our national life.

"Everyone who has had any part in this war effort of the Red Cross is entitled to congratulate himself. No thanks from anyone could be equal in value to the self satisfaction every one should feel for the part taken. Fully $100,000,000 American women have exerted themselves in the Red Cross service.

Has Over 17,000,000 Adult Members. "When we entered the war the American Red Cross had about 200,000 members. Today, as the result of the recent Christmas membership drive, there are upwards of 17,000,000 full paid members outside of the members of the Junior Red Cross, numbering perhaps 10,000,000 school children additional.

"The chief effort of the Red Cross during the war has been to care for our men in service and to aid our army and navy wherever the Red Cross may be called on to assist. As to this phase of the work Surgeon General Ireland of the U. S. Army recently said: 'The Red Cross has been an enterprise as vast as the war itself. From the beginning it has done those things which the Army Medical Corps wanted done, but could not do itself.'

"The Red Cross endeavor in France has naturally been upon an exceptionally large scale where service has been rendered to the American Army and to the French Army and the French people as well, the latter particularly during the trying period when the Allied World was waiting for the American Army to arise in force and power. Hospital emergency service for our army in France has been greatly diminished, but the Red Cross is still being called upon for service upon a large scale in the great base hospitals, where thousands of American sick and wounded are still receiving attention. At these hospitals the Red Cross supplies huts and facilities for the amusement and recreation of the men as they become convalescent. Our Army of Occupation in Germany was followed with medical units prepared to render the same emergency aid and supply service which was the primary business of the Red Cross during hostilities. The Army Canteen service along the lines of travel has

FARM PROFITS WILL AID LOAN

Rural Business Men Are Well Able to Take Up Their Share in the "Victorious Fifth."

More than ever before the American farmer finds himself in the position of comfort and prosperity which is his just due. Lean years are for him no longer.

Last year the average of farm earnings broke all records. Six million farms in 1918 produced crops worth $12,280,000,000. This year it is estimated that a greater wheat acreage than ever will be shown. Naturally, the farmer is making the most of his opportunities, and with guaranteed wheat prices and higher prices for everything he grows, the outlook for him is most encouraging.

And Europe will furnish a market doubtless for all he can grow, including his fat hogs at $50 and his steers at $150 per.

It would be interesting, if possible, to assemble comparative statements of the farmers' bank accounts now and five years ago, and the list of mortgages that have been cancelled. And it would be more interesting perhaps to have a statement of the Liberty Bonds now in the hands of these tillers of the soil.

And very soon the farmer will have an opportunity to prove that he is not without loyalty as well developed as any man's. For another loan is almost in sight, a loan that will draw upon us all.

Because of his price guarantee of $2.35 a bushel, Uncle Sam stands to lose from 50 to 75 cents upon every bushel of wheat harvested next season. Having made this guarantee to the farmer, he will make it good. That is Uncle Sam's way.

But what is Mr. Farmer going to do for Uncle Sam in the next Liberty Loan?

In every Liberty Loan to date the farmer, as a class, has bought less bonds than men in other prosperous classes. He has been able meantime to get more sugar, and coal, and everything else upon which the government put a restriction, than others have.

The big question now, when he stands to cash in at a 25 per cent premium upon his wheat crop, is what is he going to do next Liberty Loan drive?

Some Liberty Loan officials are suggesting that the farmer should buy a $100 bond for each 100 bushels of wheat that he sells to the government. He has made the profit and should have no hesitancy in taking a high grade security in payment for the difference between what the government gets and what he gets for his wheat.

OUR SOLDIERS DID NOT LET UP

And the Nation Will Show It Stays With Them in the "Victorious Fifth" Liberty Loan.

Two million of Uncle Sam's boys are over there looking after the common good of the world at large. Incidentally after the interests of the United States of America.

And they will have to stay upon the job until it is done. Until things are righted again. Until order is brought out of chaos.

This may be only two or three months longer. It may be as many years.

But while they are there they must be taken care of adequately. They must be clothed and fed and lodged comfortably. We don't want a death list in camp greater than was suffered in action.

PAY AND FILE INCOME TAX BEFORE MAR. 15

U. S. Internal Revenue Bureau Gives Warning That Severe Penalties Will Be Enforced.

WOMEN WITHIN LAW'S SCOPE; HOW THEY REPORT INCOME

The Income Tax drive comes to a close Saturday night, March 15. All payments and returns due on that date under the provisions of the new Revenue Law must be in the hands of local Internal Revenue Collectors before their offices close that night.

The Income Tax is being collected to meet the war expenses. Every person who should and tooted his horn on Armistice Day is now called upon to contribute his share of the cost of winning the war.

The laggards and the dodgers will face severe fines and jail sentences. The Internal Revenue Bureau announces that its officers will check us all up to see that every person who comes within the scope of the Income Tax law did his share.

Where to Pay and File. Residents of Maine, New Hampshire and Vermont should make their returns and pay their taxes to Seth W. Jones, Collector of Internal Revenue, Portsmouth, N. H., or to any of his deputy collectors who are now doing free advisory work on Income Tax.

Payments sent by mail should be attached to the returns and should be in the form of check, money order or draft. Cash payments by mail are sent at the taxpayer's risk of loss.

If you are unable to make your return personally because of illness, absence or incapacity an agent or legal representative may make your return. If there are any doubtful points as to your items of income or allowable deductions you should get in touch at once with a Revenue officer or a banker for advice.

Women Pay Tax.

Women are subject to all the requirements of the Income Tax. Whether single or married, a woman's income from all sources must be considered. If married and living apart from her husband she is considered separately in computing any surtax that may be due. Husband and wife file jointly, as a rule. If the husband does not include his wife's income in his return the wife must file a separate return.

Severe Penalties.

The new Revenue Law places severe penalties on a person who fails to make return on time, refuses to make return or renders a fraudulent return. For failure to make return and pay tax on time a fine of not more than $1,000 is imposed and 25 per cent of the tax due is added to the assessment. For refusing wilfully to make return or for making a false or fraudulent return there is a fine of not exceeding $10,000 and imprisonment of not exceeding one year, or both.

Farmers' Income Taxable.

Every farmer and ranchman who had a fair or a good year in 1918 must heed the Income Tax this year. He must consider all his income as taxable. He is entitled to deduct from his gross income all amounts expended in carrying on his farm. The cost of farm machinery, farm buildings and improvements cannot be deducted. The cost of live stock, either for sale or for breeding purposes, is also regarded as investment.

Overline and Bonuses Taxed.

Salary and wage earners must consider as taxable every item received from employers and from other sources. Bonuses and overtime pay are to be reported as well as the regular payments.

Allowances for Losses.

Losses sustained in 1918 and not covered by insurance are deductible items if incurred in the taxpayer's business or trade, in any transaction undertaken for profit or arising from fire, storm, shipwreck or other casualty or from theft.

SQUARE DEAL FOR EVERY INCOME TAX PAYER.

Washington, D. C.—"The rights of all persons now filing Income Tax returns are amply protected by provisions for statements, refunds and appeals," says Commissioner Daniel C. Roper.

"Every person can be sure of a square deal. No person is expected to pay more than his share of tax. His share is determined solely by the amount and nature of his net income for 1918, as defined in the law. 'Abatement petitions are dealt with openly and impartially. Refunds will be made in every case where too much tax is erroneously collected. 'The Income Tax is 'on the level' all the way through."

FEEDING POTATOES TO LIVE STOCK

Results of Studies at the Maine Station

At the present low price and slight demand for potatoes and the critical market whereby potatoes have to be graded much more carefully than they would in a firm market with a high demand, there will be quite a lot of cull potatoes left in the hands of the grower. While in the potato growing sections of the State the starch factories may start up later in the season, in many cases these potatoes can be advantageously used for food for stock.

Horses, cows, and sheep eat raw potatoes readily and if a vine have not had cooked potatoes they will eat raw potatoes freely, particularly in connection with some grain.

The Maine Agricultural Experiment Station has compared the composition of cooked with uncooked potatoes, their digestibility and their growth production in the case of sows. The results showed their chemical composition after cooking and before cooking to be practically the same so far as total nutrients are concerned. In the swelling of the starch grains due to steaming or boiling, there is no absorption of water. Both the cooked and uncooked potatoes carry about 77 per cent of water and 23 per cent of dry matter. The protein of potatoes, raw or cooked, is about 3 per cent; nitrogen free extract about 19 per cent. The small amounts of fiber, fat and ash make up the other one per cent.

In feeding trials with sheep the Maine Station found that cooked potatoes have a slightly higher digestibility than raw potatoes. Eighty-one per cent of the organic matter of cooked potatoes and 77 per cent of the organic matter of raw potatoes are digestible. The protein of raw potatoes in these trials was found to be as digestible as that of the cooked but the carbohydrates were slightly better digested when cooked than uncooked.

The only feeding trials made at the Maine Station were with swine a number of years ago. In this experiment, potatoes were the only feed used. The pigs having cooked potatoes gained in the same period of time a tenth more in weight than those having the uncooked. It is doubtful, however, if the labor and expense of cooking were warranted by the increased growth. Where they are not the exclusive diet, raw potatoes can be fed quite liberally to swine with small amounts of grain, with practically as good results as can be obtained with cooked. After, however, swine have been fed the cooked potatoes it is rather difficult to teach them to eat raw potatoes freely. There is no question but that they prefer the cooked to the uncooked. And if one is so situated that it can be done conveniently, cooked potatoes to which ground feed of a nitrogenous nature is added, the ration is far better balanced than in the case of raw potatoes alone.
